

Create a healthier, happier workforce

Why is ergonomics so important in the workplace?

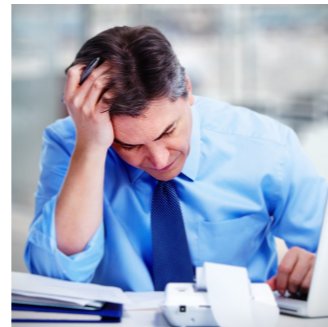

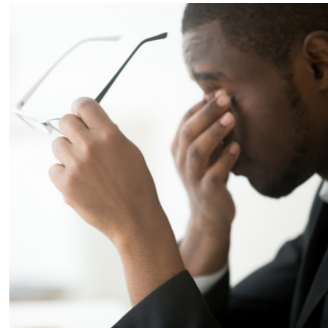

Every year, millions of workdays are lost worldwide due to workplace injuries and illnesses. By incorporating ergonomic design into your workplace, you'll be taking steps to help reduce absenteeism, presenteeism and increase productivity.

In a world where ever-changing technology drives new ways of working, ergonomics in the workplace has never been more important. Desks, chairs, monitors, keyboards, lighting and many other factors all need to be considered to create a successful workplace.

How can Ergo Squad help?

Ergo Squad specialises in ergonomic consultancy. Our team of highly qualified workplace consultants identify areas of risk and discomfort and offer solutions to improve the health and safety of your employees.

We use various assessment tools (including our very own Comfort Zone™ software) to help optimise your workplace and improve the wellbeing and productivity of your workforce.

Ergo Squad will help your business reduce absenteeism and presenteeism.

Our services

Through our specialist network, our consultants will help you identify, measure and improve the workplace factors that could be preventing your business reaching its potential.

- Workplace assessment - Ensure employees are working to their full potential with the right ergonomic equipment.
- Risk analysis - Identify workplace hazards and discover which employees are most at risk - and how to minimise these risks.
- Light measurement - Ensure your office space is well-lit and free from sun glare to prevent headaches and eye-strain.
- Acoustic measurement - Enrich productivity by reducing noise and echo in your office.
- Air measurement - Reduce absences by ensuring employees are breathing healthy air at work.
- Health management - Receive support to maintain the physical, mental and social wellbeing of your employees.
- Training workshops - Educate your workforce with tailored half day and full day ergonomic workshops on the topic of your choice.
